THE COQUETTE.
BY LIGHT BROWN ESQR.

She stood amid the throng. Her restless eyes
Moved in swift flashes north its silken lash;
And the bright lamps which hung in festive hall
Shone not more wildly beautiful than it.
Upon her fair and finely chiselled brow
Coursed veins of rich and ravishing purple.
Light winds stole in from cooling lattices,
Uplifting now and then her auburn curls—
Revealing to the riven eye a neck
Of matchless symmetry. The soft snow flake
That lays untrodden upon the mountain
Was not more touchingly pure and spotless.
The diamond bracelet on her tapering arm,
As if in mockery did gladden there
To dim her eye's bright lustre. Now and then
Her clasped lips would curl with deepest pride;
As from the rosy crevice leaping came
The witty repartee. Her lute-like voice
"Upon the spirit of the listener stole,"
And died in sweetest echoes on the heart.
Her small, white hand—ungloved—was resting,
Like a petted dove upon her bosom;
While ever and anon upon her cheek
The crimson blush did come, "to die as 'twere
Of very sweetness."

All gazed upon her,
As like some phantom in a summer dream
She moved upon the floor. She did not laugh—
For that were intelligible—but her smile
Played o'er the features of her fairy face
In lines too matchlessly delicate for A painter's pencil to portray. Her mein
Was graceful as the movement of a fawn
Amid its own dear native wild-wood bowers;
And winds that kiss the early flowers of spring,
Were not more joyous than her flicker heart.
She reigned the Queen of Beauty and of Song,
And hearts grew tremulous at her approach.
All eyes were riveted with fixed gaze,
As she flew amid the throng as light,
As a cloud upon the Orient's brow;
Wafting her voluptuous charms amid
A bower of beauty, gaiety and love.
Sweet smiles—deep sighs with fatal danger left
Her parted lips; and hearts that heretofore
Were cold and passionless, grew tender now,
And the fair beauty—with queenly pride
Smiled to see the power of her charms.

"THE MIGHTY HAS FALLEN."

MR. EDITOR.
Cowley's description of Diocletian, in his retirement, is as true to nature as it is historically correct:—

Methinks I see great Diocletian walk
In the Salutation garden's noble shade,
Which by his own imperial hand was made;
I see him smile, Methinks as he does talk
With the ambassadors who come in vain
To entice him to a throne again.
"If I, my friends," said he, "should to you show,
All the delights which in these gardens grow,
'Tis liker much that you should with me
stay,
Than 'tis that you should carry me away.
And trust me not my friends, if every day
I walk not here with more delight
Than over, after the most happy fight,
In triumph to the Capitol I rode,
To thank the gods, and though—myself almost
a god!"

These lines came forcibly to my mind
after having read the letter of the Rev.
Dr. Breckinridge, to the Frankfort Commonwealth, which I found in your last issue. Unlike the noble retired monarch who refused to give up the pleasures of his retirement, and the calm contentment
and peace of mind he experienced there,
for the homage and adulation paid to royalty, the vain and frivolous things of the world; we find our Rev. friend who had retired from the vulgar world, and all its vain pomp and empty show, and buried himself in the deep seclusion of the Christian's garden, where he could unmolested walk with Him to whose service he had devoted his life—proving too weak to resist the tempting offers which the ambassadors of Baalism laid at his feet.

His imagination vividly and strongly pictures to him the halo of fame which he can throw around his already brilliant history—he is conscious of how sweet to the palate of thousands, will be the words traced by his gifted pen—he is well aware of the excitement which will be created by the avowal of his views, upon a question that is now agitating the American people. But then, he doubts whether it were proper for him to meddle in such affairs. He hesitates—he ponders. But ah! there steals into the council of conflicting opinions, one great, grand reason why he should do so, and immediately
all irresolution vanishes—his pen is quickly seized, and the political manifesto of Robert J. Breckinridge, is given to the world. That reason, powerful in its nature, sweet to his acceptance, and which banished every scruple he entertained upon the propriety of the step, was—
"He could now gratify his long cherished wish to malign the Catholic Church, and indulge to its fullest extent, that bitter and malignant feelings against all who profess that faith, which has been so long accumulating, within the secret chambers of his heart. That he has given evidence, of this fact, in the letter referred to, no one can deny."

UNION CONVENTION.

FIFTH CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT.

The "Union Convention" of whigs and democrats, which assembled at Bardonia Nelson county, Ky., on the 14th day of May, 1855, convened at the court house, and upon a call for delegates from the different counties composing the fifth congressional district of Kentucky, the following delegates enrolled their names as follows, to-wit:

[Here follows the list of names from the several counties, which we are forced to omit for the want of space; merely giving the delegation from this county.]

MARION COUNTY—Green Forrest, John
B. Wathen, H. H. Hughes, R. M. Spalding, Wm. T. Hamilton, Henry Liver,
John Cecil, J. W. Goodrum, R. O'Bryan
C. Edelen, J. T. Rainey, J. S. Medley, Dr.
J. B. Lancaster, Wm. Smith, J. Drury, A.
Mills, John Mattingly, David Graves,
John H. Tucker, and Joseph Bowman.

On motion the Hon. C. A. Wickliffe of Nelson; was unanimously chosen as President of the Convention; T. H. Gunter of Hardin, as Secretary, and John H.
Tucker, of Marion, was chosen Assistant Secretary.

Hon. C. A. Wickliffe, after taking the Chair, thanked the Convention, for the honor thus tendered to him, and explained the object of the Convention in a few pertinent remarks, offered the following resolutions, which were adopted without a dissenting voice.

Resolved, That in the exercise of voting by the delegates, in making the election of a candidate, the vote of each county composing the district shall be as follows:

The County of Meade, : : 1 vote,
" of Hardin, : : 2 "
" of Lure, : : 1 "
" of Nelson, : : 1 "
" of Bullitt, : : 1 "
" of Spencer, : : 1 "
" of Anderson, : : 1 "
" of Mercer, : : 1 "
" of Washington, : : 1 "
" of Marion, : : 1 "

Resolved, That the delegates from each county appoint the members of a committee from their respective delegations, according to the above ratio to select and agree upon a candidate for Congress in this district, who shall report to the convention in full session for the ratification or rejection of the same, as they may deem expedient and right.

The delegates from the different counties, in accordance with the above resolution then appointed one member each to cast the vote of their respective counties.
Hon. C. A. Wickliffe then remarked to the Convention that inasmuch as his name
had been suggested by a number of delegates, and others, as a candidate for Congress, and some delegates were instructed to vote for him, he respectfully declined the position, giving as his reasons, that when the people of Nelson county voluntarily elected him as one of their delegates to the constitutional convention of Kentucky, he had resolved, and intended to adhere to the resolution, that this should be the last political office he would ever fill, besides, his health was feeble,
and he was unable to undergo the fatigues of a political canvass.

DR. JOHN JACKSON then remarked as
follows:
Fellow Citizens:—Following the patriotic example of the distinguished statesman, (Hon. C. A. Wickliffe,) who just now addressed you, I too, decline all pretensions as a candidate for congress.—
That harmony may prevail, and the object of the convention be promoted in a cordial nomination of a suitable standard bearer, I cheerfully proffer my aid in the support of who ever may be nominated.
In taking this position I hope my friends
will heartily concur and unite with me
in giving the most effective aid to the nominee. I prefer the cause to my own personal elevation, and ask only for the present the honor of being useful in the cause we defend. Let us all, therefore, go together heart and hand in maintaining those principles of our government which are dangerously assailed.

Col. JOHN ROWAN then declined any pretensions to a nomination for Congress, and stated in a few words that he had not the least aspirations for so distinguished a position.

The delegates appointed to cast the votes of their counties, then retired to one of the jury rooms of the court house,
to consult, and after being absent about fifteen minutes, returned, and presented to the convention the name of JOSHUA H. JEWETT, of Hardin, as their unanimous choice as the candidate for congress from the fifth congressional district of Kentucky. The convention, upon a call of ayes and nays, unanimously ratified
the choice of the committee, and Joshua H.
Jewett, of Hardin, was proclaimed by the President, as the candidate of this convention for a seat in the lower house of the next congress of the United States.

The committee also presented the following report which was unanimously
adopted:

"The committee in the selection of the candidate has not been influenced or controlled by former party divisions or principles. The former whig party of Kentucky, has seemingly abandoned its organization as a party, and many of the prominent leaders of the party have attached themselves to a new organization, known as the know nothing party, which had its origin in the free States, and whose principles, so far as avowed, are at war with the principles of our National and State Constitutions, and the practice of the two governments under them for more than sixty years, viz: *Equal rights, civil,

political and religious, to all.*

"We therefore forbear making any remarks upon questions that heretofore divided the people of Kentucky upon national questions, and invite all who are opposed to the principles and objects of the know nothing party to unite upon the candidate we have presented. We believe it more important at this time, to battle for the free and liberal principles of the constitution, than for those principles of public policy, that have divided us in times passed, and which may be now regarded as settled.

T. H. Gunter then offered the following resolution which was unanimously
adopted:

Resolved, That the cordial and hearty thanks of this convention be tendered to Dr. John Jackson and Hon. John Rowan for the self-sacrificing spirit which they have both manifested, in contributing to the harmony and union of this convention
by the withdrawal of their names from a contest for the nomination, as congressional candidates for the fifth congressional district."

Col. CREEL, of Marion, then moved that the Chairman be requested to address
the convention, which was carried by acclamation, and in response the Hon. C.
A. Wickliffe delivered a powerful and eloquent address upon the great subject which is now agitating the public mind.
He spoke nearly two hours, and was listened to by a large audience with profound attention and breathless silence,
which was only interrupted by frequent outbreaks of applause.

Dr. John Jackson, upon the close of Mr. Wickliffe's address, congratulated the convention upon the choice of their standard-bearer, and pledged himself to battle manfully for the success and election of the gentleman whom the convention
had chosen as their candidate.

On motion of the Chairman,
Resolved, That the delegation from Hardin, be appointed a committee to notify Mr. Jewett of his nomination, and to request his response.

Resolved, That all the newspapers of the fifth congressional district, who feel willing to do so, be requested to publish the proceedings of this convention.

The convention then adjourned.
T. H. GUNTER, Secy.

Select Tales.

Lola Montes vs. Booth.

During Lola Montes' first engagement
at the Metropolitan Theatre, San Francisco, Mr. J. B. Booth, Jr., the acting manager, while behind the scenes one morning after rehearsal, espied the fair countess smoking a cigarette. Civilly ac-coasting her he observed:

"Excuse me, Madame la Countess, but smoking is against Mrs. Sinclair's positive regulations."

"C'est en rien. I shall smoke."

"Pardon me Madame, it is absolutely prohibited in the theatre."

"What is that to me? Go away, you are a Jesuit."

"I don't profess Madame, to belong to any established church, but I do profess to discharge my duty as acting manager for Mrs. Sinclair, and I must politely, but positively, ask you to desist from smoking."

With great reluctance Lola threw away
the cigar, and the tragedian passed on,
but returning soon after, what was his surprise to observe her again indulging in smoking a Havana.

"This is unworthy of you, Mademoiselle Lola," he observed, "and I must again ask you to extinguish that cigar."

"C'est une question d'etat," shouted the indignant belle, "I am Maria de Landfeldt Heald. You have insulted me."

If the good King Louis was living now,
you should repent this."

Seeing her not disposed to comply with the rules of the theatre, Mr. Booth approached with the intention of removing the cigar, when she exclaimed, "one step nearer, and I will slap your face."

Booth knowing the woman he had to deal with, replied, "And if you do, Senora,
I shall most assuredly knock you down."

Lola looked at him, and saw that he was more than a match even for her.
Leaving the theatre in a towering rage she rushed to the abode of her cavalier servant, whom we will call Worgan.

"I have been insulted! I must have blood!"

"You shall have a sanguinary Niagara,
if you like; but what's the matter?"

Lola detailed the occurrence, and Worgan left to seek Booth. He was a firm friend of the young tragedian, and the two quickly concocted a plot. Worgan wrote as follows:

"M' Aute: There is a secluded spot
near the broad waters of the Sacramento.
I meet him there to-morrow. Pistols.
Ten paces. If I fall, it is for thee. Pray to the virgin for me. Adieu carissima mia!
Thine,
WORGAN.

P. S.—I inclose a lock of my hair.
The letter dispatched, the train left for Sacramento, and prepared for "a good time" for a day or two. Lola was in agony—repeating of her folly—until her friend appeared before her.

"He is dead!"
"Dead!"
"I must leave you now, and content myself for a day or two. Adieu!" and a frantic rush from the room.

The next day news was sent her that Booth was not dead but dangerously ill.
The next day he was improving, the next convalescent, and at the end of about a fortnight the two parties returned, having had a very pleasant fortnight's frolic—Lola's honor was avenged—she forgave and forgot, and to this day she does not know the trick played on her.

Baloon Ascension.

"You are about to witness Monsieur G's ascension," said a gentleman to me, as I entered the enclosure devoted to the aeronautical display. He was an entire stranger; but not being superstitious in matter of etiquette, we suppose a gentleman or distinction might be, I did not object to his brusque mode of introduction, and civilly answered "Yes." "But I shall go farther to see it than you will,"
said the gentleman; "I intend to ascend with Monsieur G." "You may go farther and fare worse, said I to him. "You are pleased to be witty," said he, "but I intend to make some examinations of those upper regions for myself, to ascertain whether stars celestial are on duty during the day, or whether there are as much a sinuous as the office of our 'stars' terrestrial. Would you like to ascend with us?" "No, thank you kindly," said I; "in getting into the clouds one might lose himself; the way is likely to be mist.
Every one to his taste; the earth has such charms for me, that I would not change a spade of it for the cubic miles of blue em-pyrean. I'm no poet."

We entered the enclosure. There was the vast silken bubble, puffing out its hollow cheeks like the face of a fat clown
when laughing, rising end tugging away at the ropes as if impatient to leave our society.

"You will accompany me," said my friend, to which I replied in the negative.
"Perhaps the gentleman would assist in cutting the ropes," said the aeronaut in French, which, singularly enough, I understood at the moment, though I never before or since ventured to exhibit my knowledge. "Certainly," said I. "Thank you," said the aeronaut, "please take your station." He and my friend entered the car. I grasped one of the ropes and awaited the order. In a few moments it came. "Cut," said one voice. "No, hold on," said another. I was bewildered and did both. When the others cut, I did the same, and with the direction to hold on, I grasped the end of the rope still near me, and "held on." In a moment more I was fifty feet from the ground.
Imagine my suspense. I cried out to my friend and the aeronaut, but in vain. But the hats swung occasionally over the side,
I knew they were bowing to the crowd below.—Meanwhile I was swinging like a pendulum above them, with ten fingers to sustain the weight of one hundred and eighty pounds, (I'm rather stout,) and to preserve me from being thinly spread over the ground beneath, from "farding
the lean earth," with my human form divine. What an age of terror. Inch by inch I approached my doom. First the left hand lost its hold; and then, as I felt the end slipping by the little finger of the right, I gave one brief prayer and fell—out of bed!

"I advise tapping," said the Doctor,
after having exhausted all the powers of his healing art on the case. The father of a family, a hard drinker, was bloated with the dropsy to the size of a barrel.
He had drunk nothing but whiskey for years, but the doctor said he was full of water nevertheless, and advised him to be tapped. The old man consented, but one of the boys, more filial than the rest,
blubbered badly, and protested loudly
against it.

"But why don't you want your father tapped?"

"Cause nothing that's tapped in this house ever lasted more than three weeks."

The same doctor had another patient
of the same sort, and when he found him
near his end, he sought to break the news
to his wife in a gentle way, by telling her that her husband would probably soon be in the world of Spirits.

"And won't he be glad when he gets there?" she said, "for sure he never could get enough here."

—Nine thousand shad were taken at one haul at Hoke's shore, eight thousand were caught.

The chap that went to California to dig up a gold mine, has returned; he has brought with him a rusty musket, which shoots ten times in two hours.

THE POST.

LEBANON, KY.,

Wednesday Morning, May 22, 1856.

We are late in getting out this issue, on account of the unexpected and unaccountable absence of the hand we had in our office. As we were fortunate enough to supply his place we hope to be punctual in future. As all devils are now laid on the know nothings, we may as well lay our mislapses to them, and say that our hand was kidnapped by them.

Know Nothing Ritual.

We find in the Louisville Courier, of the 17th, a full ritual of the first, second and third degree of Know Nothingism. The Courier publishes it for the purpose of proving positively, that there is no connection whatever, between know nothingism and abolitionism. How the gentleman has over-reached himself. He has given publicity to the most vile proceedings which ever stigmatized a free people, (and which proceedings he upholds,) for the purpose of disproving the just charge of its being but another phase of abolitionism. By the by, does it not seem strange that such men as Prentiss and the editor of the Courier, as many others we wot of, who have always been free-soilers, but who are now urging with might and main that know nothingism is pre-slavery in all its parts, and yet are strong advocates of it. Oh, consistency.

We give below the oaths, obligations, and penalties of the three degrees:

FIRST DEGREE COUNCIL.

To be admitted to membership in this Order, the candidate shall be:

1. Proposed and found acceptable;
2. Introduced and examined under the guaranty of secrecy;
3. Placed under the obligation which the Order imposes;
4. Required to enroll his name and place of residence;
5. Instructed in the forms, usages, and ceremonies of the Order;
6. Solemnly charged as to the objects to be obtained, and his duties.

The preliminary outside proceedings having been gone through, then comes the obligation.

You do solemnly swear (or affirm,) that you will never reveal anything said or done in this room, the names of any persons present, nor the existence of this society, whether found worthy to proceed or not, and that all your declarations shall be true, so help you God.

The following questions propounded by the Marshal are to be satisfactorily answered:

- Where were you born?
Where is your permanent residence?
Are you twenty-one years of age?
In your religious belief are you a Roman Catholic?

Were you born of Protestant parents, or were you reared under Protestant influence?

If married, is your wife a Roman Catholic?

["No," or "Yes,"—the answer to be valued as the Constitution of the State Council shall provide.]

Are you willing to use your influence and vote only for native-born American citizens for all offices of honor, trust or profit, in the gift of the people, to the exclusion of all foreigners and aliens Roman Catholics in particular, and without regard to party predilections?

(Answer: "I am.")

The candidates having answered all the questions, are next brought in by the Marshal to the President, who, after some preliminary remarks, addresses them with the following

OBLIGATION.

In the presence of Almighty God and these witnesses, you do solemnly promise and swear that you will never betray any of the secrets of this society, nor communicate them even to proper candidates, except within a lawful Council of the Order; that you will never permit any of the secrets of this society to be written, or in any other manner made legible, except for the purpose of official instruction; that you will not vote, nor give your influence for any man, for any office in the gift of the people, unless he be an American born citizen, in favor of Americans ruling America, nor if he be a Roman Catholic; that you will, in all political matters, so far as this order is concerned, comply with the will of the majority, though it may conflict with your personal preference, so long as it does not conflict with the Constitution of the United States of America, or that of the State in which you reside; that you will not, under any circumstance whatever, knowingly recommend an unworthy person for initiation, nor suffer it to be done, if in your power to prevent it; that you will not, under any circumstances, expose the name of any member of this order, nor reveal the existence of such an association; that you will answer an imperative notice issued by the proper authority; obey the command of the State Council President, or his deputy, while assembled by such notice, and respond to the claim of a sign or cry of the Order, unless it be physically impossible; and that you will acknowledge the State Council of —, as the legislative head, the ruling authority, and the supreme tribunal of the Order in the state of —, acting under the jurisdiction of the National Council of the United States of North America. Binding yourself in the penalty of excommunication from the Order, the forfeiture of all intercourse with its members, and being denounced in all the Societies of the same as a wilful traitor to your God and your country.

[The President shall call up every person present by three blows of the gavel, when the candidates shall all repeat after the Vice President in concert.]

All this I voluntarily, and sincerely promise with a full understanding of the solemn sanctions and penalties.

The candidates are then invested by the Instructor with everything appertaining to the first degree, with the signs, counter-signs and pass-words; with the "sign of recognition," the "answer," and the "grip," with the means by which public notice of a meeting is given, with the "cry of distress," and sign of caution; after which the President impresses on the initiated the importance of secrecy, the manner of proceeding in recommending candidates for initiation, and the responsibility of the duties which they have assumed.

SECOND DEGREE COUNCIL.

The candidate having been elected to the second degree are presented to the President and take the following

OBLIGATION.

You, and each of you, of your own free will and accord, in the presence of Almighty God and these witnesses, your left hand resting on your right breast, and your right hand extended to the flag of your country, do solemnly and sincerely swear, that you will not, under any circumstances, disclose in any manner, nor suffer it to be done by others, if in your power to prevent it, the names, signs, pass-words, or other secrets of this degree, except in open council for the purpose of instruction; that you will in all things conform to all the rules and regulations of this Order, and to the Constitution and By-Laws of this or any Council to which you may be attached, so long as they do not conflict with the constitution of the United States, nor that of the State in which you reside; that you will, under all circumstances, if in your power so to do, attend to all regular signs or summonses that may be thrown or sent to you by a brother of this or any other degree of this Order; that you will support in all political matters, for all political offices, members of this Order in preference to other persons; that if it may be done legally, you will, when elected or appointed to any official station conferring on you the power to do so, remove all foreigners, aliens, or Roman Catholics from office or place, and that you will in no case appoint such to any office or place in your gift. You do also promise and swear that this and all other obligations which you have previously taken in this Order shall ever be kept, through life, sacred and inviolate. All this you promise and declare as Americans, to sustain and abide by, without any hesitation or mental reservation whatever. So help you God and keep you steadfast! [Each will answer, "I do."]

The candidate are then invested with everything appertaining to the second degree as in the first.

THIRD DEGREE COUNCIL.

The President administers to the candidates elect the following

OBLIGATION.

You and each of you, of your own free will and accord, in the presence of Almighty God and these witnesses, with your hands joined in token of that fraternal affection which should ever bind together the States of this union—forming a ring, in token of your determination that so far as your efforts can avail, this Union shall have no end—do solemnly and sincerely swear (or affirm,) that you will not, under any circumstances, disclose in any manner, nor suffer it to be done by others, if in your power to prevent it, the names, signs, pass-words, or other secrets of this degree, except to those to whom you prove on trial to be brothers of the same degree, or in open Council for the purpose of instruction; that you do hereby solemnly declare your devotion to the Union of these States; that in the discharge of your duties as American citizens, you will uphold, maintain and defend it; that you will discourage and discountenance any and every attempt coming from any and every quarter, which you believe to be designed, or calculated to destroy or subvert it, to weaken its bonds; and that you will use your influence, as far as in your power, in endeavoring to procure an amicable and equitable adjustment of all political disputes or differences, which may threaten its injury or overthrow.

You do further promise and swear, (or affirm,) that you will not vote for any one to fill any office of honor or profit or trust, of a political character, whom you know or believe to be in favor of a dissolution of the Union of these States, or who is endeavoring to produce that result; that you will vote for and support for all political offices Third, or Union Degree members of this Order, in preference to all others; that if it may be done consistently with the Constitution and the laws of the land, you will, when appointed to any official station, which may confer on you the power to do so, remove from office or place all persons whom you know or believe to be in favor of a dissolution of the Union; or who are endeavoring to produce that result; and that you will in no case appoint such persons to any office or place whatever. All this you promise and swear, (or affirm,) upon your honor as American citizens and friends of the American Union, to sustain and abide by without any hesitation or mental reservation whatever. You also promise and swear, (or affirm,) that this and all other obligations which you have previously taken in this Order, shall ever be kept sacred and inviolate. To all this you pledge your lives, your fortunes, and your sacred honors. So help you God, and keep you steadfast. [Each one shall answer, "I do."]

We had intended to make some remarks upon the above "ritual," but its length forbids it. We had several other articles which we wished to insert, but must postpone them to another issue. We may conclude to comment on the above, minutely; if so it would be as well for our readers to preserve carefully this number, in order to ascertain thoroughly whether we have stuck to our text or not.

We, with pleasure, hail the location of H. Pool & Co., in our town. It is a decided improvement; first, because it advances the town; and secondly, it is now no longer necessary for those who wish articles in his particular line, to go to Louisville, or even to another State to procure them. The monuments, tomb stones &c., which they have now on hand is an earnest of what they can do. And this much we will say, that the work executed at this shop cannot be beat in the western country; if you don't chose to take our word for it, why, go down on Market street, between Main and Water, to his shop, and examine for yourselves.

We most sincerely thank the two ladies who sent us that lovely bouquet, today. These are not mere words, which spring unbidden from the lips, but our real, heart-felt thanks. How exhorting it is to a poor careworn editor to receive those sweet, poetic tokens of approval and friendship? None knows but the recipient. Woman—lovely woman, comes first in our view of terrestrial happiness; and next comes flowers,—the foot-prints of angels,—are as closely allied to them as the bee to his honey. Oh, we do love flowers; language cannot express our admiration of these fair dimples on the face of nature. Give us fair, beautiful woman's smile of approbation and we would brave the frowns of the sternest sex of three worlds. Give us the rainbow-tinted flowers or destroy the world.

MARION COUNTY.—In the late district elections in Marion county, the K. N.'s were defeated in every district, and in the coming August elections the "old liners" expect to carry that county by from one hundred to two hundred votes. So mote it be!—Bardstown Gazette.

So far as your information concerning the last election goes, Mc, We are unprepared to testify as to its correctness or incorrectness; but this much we will say: you place our majority at entirely too low a figure. We do not look for any less majority for our candidates than from between five hundred and a thousand votes! Anything less than a majority of five hundred for our truly republican candidates, wouldn't suit us at all in this country, and is preposterous to think of.

THE FOOT'S DEATH.—A Mr. Fogstone recently died in London, who, in ten years literally ate up a fortune of 150,000 pounds sterling. This singular person traversed all Europe for the sake of gratifying his appetite. In 1849, he actually seduced the cook of Prince Potemkin, in Russia, from his service. He had agents in China, Mexico, and Canada, to supply him with the rarest delicacies. A single dish sometimes cost him fifty pounds sterling. A rival of Apicius, but wiser than the Roman, he waited until all his patrimony was consumed before he quitted life. On the 15th of April nothing was left him but a solitary guinea, a shirt, and a battered hat. He bought a woodcock with the guinea, which he had served up in the highest style of the culinary art. He gave himself two hours rest for a easy digestion, and then jumped into the Thames from Westminster bridge.

COMPULSORY VACCINATION.—A bill is before the Massachusetts legislature which makes it compulsory on parents, guardians, overseers of charitable institutions, prisoners, the selectmen of towns, and mayors and aldermen of cities, &c. to see that all persons who may come under their charge are duly vaccinated, and any neglect of this duty shall be punished by a fine of five dollars for each and every year of such neglect.

There seems to be a growing disposition in the country to make the "State" all powerful. The republican idea that that was the "best government which governed the least" appears to be rapidly going out of fashion. Maxims and precedents in legislation are being recognized of the most arbitrary character. What used to be left to individual foresight and intelligence is now the subject of compulsory laws, and the people are treated as if they were destitute of those qualities.

The trotting match at Cincinnati on Saturday, over the Queen City race course between "Reube," "Bill Wood," and "Mose," for a purse of $100, resulted in favor of Reube.

ARRIVAL OF THE BALTIC.

New York, May 18.

The Baltic arrived this evening with 160 passengers.

Lord Raglan admits that the bombardment has not produced the result looked for. The impression in England is, that the siege will be abandoned for the present, and the whole of Kanirsch and Balaklava will be left for the defense.

A few corps of the main portion of the allies would try to penetrate the interior, and cut off the supplies from Sebastopol, and then completely invert the town.

Numerous reinforcements are constantly reaching the allies.

The French reserve of 80,000, near Constantinople, is expected to be sent to Balaklava.

BALAKLAVA, 5TH.—The allies are gaining ground, and all the Russian outworks have been taken, and summary engagements are frequent, and large numbers of Russian mortars and many prisoners taken.

Sebastopol dates to the 4th.—Napoleon escaped an assassination on the evening of the 20th. An Italian fired two pistols at him while riding on horseback. Personal revenge the object.

There is nothing in the siege to warrant a favorable result.

The position of the allies is regarded as critical, notwithstanding the advantages gained. The firing slackened on the 28th, so as not to exhaust the ammunition.

An immense Russian force is reported by the allies to be concentrating near Sebastopol. It is said to be 100,000 strong.

Telegraphic communications with the Crimea continues.

Lord John Russell had reached London from Vienna.

The British Budget had passed both Houses.

The King of Prussia is ill with fever. The Russian official accounts of the 24th represent the damage sustained as but little account which was actively repaired, while the skirmishes were generally successful.

The loss sustained by the garrison on the 11th was seven sub-batteries, 339 men killed, 6 superior and 35 subaltern officers and 1,899 wounded.

The English captured the first Russian rifle pit on the night of the 16th. It was a desperate encounter. Col. Graham Egerton, a field officer, in command, was killed.

On the 20th, an attack was made on the 2nd Russian rifleman, and they abandoned the pit almost immediately.

According to the statement of two Polish deserters, 100,000 Russians were in the vicinity of Sebastopol, 60,000 of whom arrived from the Sebastopol.

The forts on the north side of the harbor had taken part in the cannonade, carrying the shots clear into the lines of the allies.

Dispatches reached the British Government, which was a few hours later, but it was not generally communicated.

Although nightly questions were asked in Parliament, the ministers had declared that they should exercise due discretion in the publication of the news.

LATEST.—A short engagement occurred on the night of the 18th. The front and left attacked the whole Russian rifle pits, which were taken, together with eight light mortars and 200 prisoners. The whole affair was brilliant for the allies.

At St. Petersburg every article of consumption was selling at famine prices.

POOR HISS!—"The grand instructor" of the Massachusetts K. N.'s, Joseph Hiss, after being expelled from the House of Representatives, refuses to acknowledge the authority of the House. He took his seat as usual, and was forcibly ejected by the sergeant at arms, but he would not stay ejected until they threatened to confine him in prison. He has published his side of the Mrs. Patterson "movement," and if it is to be believed, he is no deeper steeped in dishonor than some of his brothers on the smelting committee. It is not the crime which is so dreadful in the eyes of these saintly K. N.'s, but it is being found out that disgraces a man. Moral party!!!

MORE FALSEHOODS.—It is reported that Mr. Wise has written a letter to Colonel Goodson, expressing the opinion that he would be defeated. We are authorized to say that such a statement is a falsehood. Mr. Wise was in Washington city last week, and expressed himself confident of his election. So writes a friend to us.

It is reported that the editor of this paper has said he did not believe that Gov. Floyd and Mr. Heiskell would be elected. We know that to be false. We will not be content with less than 250 majority for both, and our expectation is 400. All our ticket will get the last figure unless there is awful swindling.

We say again to our friends—Don't believe know nothing reports!—Abington (Va.) Democrat.

Miss Mary Marble, eldest daughter of the late Dan Marble, the eccentric comedian, was married at Chicago on the 7th inst. to a young actor named Myers. The marriage was a runaway affair.

A young man named Edward Bransfield died in New York on Wednesday, from hydropic, the effect of the bite of a dog.

MARBLE WORKS!

H. POOL & CO. having permanently located in Lebanon, Ky., take pleasure in announcing to the public that they have just imported a large stock of American and Italian Marble, and are now prepared to fill all orders for Tomb Stone, Monuments, Counter Top, Table and Stand Tops, &c., &c., in the very best style of art; at shortest notice and on the most reasonable terms. As we employ none but the best workmen, we warrant all our work to give satisfaction. We solicit a continuance of the public patronage heretofore so liberally bestowed. may 26 tf.

Physiopathic System
OF CURING CHRONIC OR LINGERING DISEASES.

The peculiar system of treatment which I have for some years back pursue in chronic or long standing diseases, with such extraordinary success. I have named "the Physiopathic," that is, in plain English, the art of healing those diseases agreeably to the laws of nature. In an advertisement like the present, it cannot be expected that the principles upon which this system is founded can be announced.

The sphere of this system is not limited to any particular class of diseases or disorders, or to the diseases of particular organs: as the eye, the ear, or the skin; but embraces the whole range of human chronic maladies, even affections of the mind, and congenital diseases or deformities, that is; those with which one is born. A great many of the affections which formerly required frightful, painful and often dangerous surgical operations are found to yield to its mild but powerful influence. It is emphatically the system for the successful treatment of all the strange, curious, obstinate pains, feelings, sensations, symptoms, disorganization and complications of chronic disease, and a very large number of diseases which hitherto have been considered as absolutely incurable, have been and can be cured by it. It is in a word capable of curing all the inveterate diseases that any of the other systems is capable of curing, and a large number besides, in which either of them would be found quite powerless.

But does the practice prove the theory? I answer that it does, and this conclusively as the many who have already been cured by it can amply testify; but I suppose those who know myself personally, and the number large and respectable in Marion county, will be content with my own word for it. I take no certificates of cures, deeming such, as only becoming practitioners who effect only chance cures; the Physiopathic method rests on a basis so solid that astonishing cures by it, appear as no great wonder, but only as the result of natural laws directed by professional skill.

The following are some of the diseases in which this new practice has been found most successful, to wit:—Epilepsy or fits, St. Vitus' Dance, Cataplexy, Sciatica, Neuralgia, Tic Dolorous, Spasms, Paralysis or Palsy, Wens and other Tumors or Lumps, some kinds of Cancer, Dropsy, Chronic Erysipelas, Rheumatism, Gout, Polypos, Scrofula, Chronic sore eyes, Blindness, Cataract, Acanthosis, Film over the eye, Deafness, Running from the ears, Ozena, Chronic Bronchitis, Asthma, Spitting of blood, Diseases of the heart, Dyspepsia, Gastralgia, Liver diseases, Jaundice, Piles, Obstinate Constiveness, Chronic Diarrhoea, Diabetes, Gravel, Hip-joint diseases, White Swelling, Fistula, Nightmare, Mental disorders or affections of the mind, &c. Likewise the most troublesome affections peculiar to females; and among the diseases of children I would particularly mention—Squinting, Stammering, Rickets including Humpback, Scaldhead, Prolapsus ani or falling down of the fundament; &c.

N. B. The medicines are prepared in a manner that is especially my own, and are remarkably pleasant, in fact almost tasteless. No cutting instruments or other harsh means used in the above cases.

Charges, including medicines, $3 to $5 per week, where I have not to ride out to see my patients. Boarding can be had in this pleasant Village on moderate terms, and a stage runs through here from Louisville, every Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday.

Patients at a distance who are unable to come to see me, can, as the next best expedient, consult me by letter. On sending an exact statement of the history and symptoms of their case, mentioning also any other affections they may have, and at the same time enclosing a fee of not less than $3. (except in the case of the poor,) they will receive medicine with directions, by mail, post paid.

BUENA VISTA.

HAVING recently purchased the justly celebrated Buena Vista Spring, 5 miles South of Lebanon, I would respectfully inform the public generally, that I have refitted the establishment entirely, with new furniture and everything necessary for the comfort and convenience of visitors. And I am now prepared to receive boarders by the day, week, month or during the season; and my charges will be reasonable.

The water of this spring is Colliate, and has by its use, performed several remarkable cures both on those in the neighborhood and those who have visited it from a distance.

The situation of the establishment is high, airy, comfortable and healthy; the cottages are comfortable and in every way suitable to invalids.

Special Notices.

SYPHILIS, SCROFULA AND DISEASED BLOOD.—For these terrible diseases, Carter's Spanish Mixture is the only specific.

The proprietors have in their possession over one hundred certificates of the most extraordinary cures effected by it.

We refer to the certificate of Richard Adams, late High Sheriff of Richmond, Vir., Edwin Burton, Commissioner of the Revenue for Richmond; Gen. Welch, of the Mammoth Circus; Dr. Hurdley, of Washington City; Mr. Win. Matthews, and C. B. Luck, Esq., of Richmond, Va.; Mr. F. Boyden, Exchange Hotel, Va.; and a host of others, who have seen cases of the worst description cured by Carter's Spanish Mixture. They all certify that it is the greatest purifier. See advertisement.

Hoffand's German Bitters, prepared and sold by Dr. Jackson, at the German Medical Store, 120 Arch street, Philadelphia, daily increase in their well deserved celebrity, for the cure of all diseases arising from derangement of the liver. These Bitters have indeed, proved a blessing to the afflicted, who show their gratitude by the most flattering testimonials. This medicine has established for itself a name that competitors however wily their schemes, or seductive their promises, cannot reach. It gained the public confidence by the immense benefits that have been derived from it, and will ever maintain its position. See advertisement.

Dr. Geohagan's Hydropiper.

Is prepared by a regular Physician, and is of purely Vegetable ingredients, the safety of which accompany each bottle. It is a pleasant, safe and certain cure for diseases of women. For Kidney Affections, Impurities of the Blood, diseases of the Skin, Dyspepsia and Scrofula it has never had an equal. It is a slight stimulant, and a powerful tonic and alterative. See advertisement.

Wanted, Immediately.—A young lad, of from 12 to 15 years of age, to learn the printing business. A boy of good moral character, of a sprightly intellect, who can come well recommended, can have a chance to obtain a good and lucrative trade.

Hon. Beverley L. Clarke, the democratic candidate for Governor, will address the citizens at the following places: Shepherdsville Bullitt county, Friday May 25; Bardonia, Nelson, co., Saturday May 26; Springfield, Washington co., Monday, May 29; Lebanon, Marion, co., Tuesday, May 29; Hodgenville, Larue, co., Wednesday, May 30; and at Elizabethtown Hardin, county, Thursday May 31.

In Cannelton, Indiana, the Democrats defeated the British know nothings by a clean sweep.

It appears to be settled, says the St. Louis Republican, that the know nothings are to hold their convention for the nomination of President, at Memphis, in April, 1856.

One of our Western editors in giving an account of a tornado, heads it as follows: "Disgraceful Thunder Storm."

Four thousand head of hogs were slaughtered in Greencastle, Indiana, last month, for the use of the English army in the Crimea.

A man named Fleming has been arrested in Maysville, Ky. for passing counterfeit half dollars. It is supposed they were manufactured in that city.

In Artesburgh, on the river Elbe, in Hanover, a melancholy occurrence lately took place; the breaking of the dyke in that place was a heart-rending circumstance. A portion of the liberated water rushed through the new graveyard, washed away the earth covering the coffins, and carried with them in its passage the coffins which were laid bare. About 30 of the coffins have since been recovered. The living saw their dead again, as most of the coffins were opened by relations seeking their relatives.

A BIG SALARY.—Mr. C. Mathews, who has just accepted the post of stage manager of Drury Lane Theatre, London, receives a salary of £130 per week. He once made oath that he could not live on less than 10,000 pounds a year.

ISAAC H. TRABUE.—This gentleman has written a letter to the Hawesville Eagle, in which he says that he and Dr. Peyton have agreed to leave the question of which shall run for Congress to four Democrats of Muhlenburg county, and abide by their decision. Mr. Trabue says: "As a matter of course, I will not persist in splitting the party for whose success I have ever contended." This is the language of a true Democrat and patriot.

The editor of the Tribune says "Sam" is simply the short for Samaritan. This is probably true. The Samaritans were a tribe of semi-heathens, whom God's chosen people, the Jews, looked upon as unclean and refused to have any intercourse with. St. Luke records the parable of a good action of one good Samaritan as something extraordinary. According to the Tribune editor's version of scripture nomenclature, a good action by a Samaritan would be equally wonderful, which we fully believe.—N. A. Ledger.

First rate, Mr. Ledger, but not quite correct. "Sam" is the short for Sampson and Mrs. Patterson is the Delilah.—Daily Louisville Times.

The American party are in the habit of quoting from Washington, to bolster up their principles. We take the privilege of quoting a short paragraph, but fully expressive of this great and good man's opinion on the subject:

"The bosom of America is open to receive, not only the opulent and respectable stranger, but the oppressed and persecuted of ALL NATIONS and ALL RELIGIONS, whom we shall welcome to a participation in ALL OUR RIGHTS AND PRIVILEGES."—Washington.

KNOW NOTHING LODGE DISBANDED.—The Bangor (Maine) Democrat says that the k. n. lodge in the town of Stetson; in that county, has disbanded and burned its records.

DISSOLUTION OF THE CUBAN JUNTA.

New Orleans, May 3, 1855.
In my letter of Monday I announced the resignation of Gen. J. A. Quitman and other officers of the Cuban Expedition. I have now to announce the dissolution of the Cuban Junta. Gouicouria, the Treasurer of the Junta, and Elias Hernandez have resigned, and Frias, the only true patriot in the Junta, sent his resignation to the Club at Havana. Gouicouria and Hernandez have taken their departure for New York. Betancourt and Valente are now the only representatives of the celebrated blundering Junta. Two of the steamships owned by the Expedition are to be sold to pay the outstanding debts of the Junta. The transportation of the arms, &c. for the bark Magnolia cost over $50,000. Gen. Quitman returned to his home on Tuesday evening.

BULWER ON THE AMERICAN PRESS.—Bulwer, the novelist, in his speech on the stamp duty, remarked, "You have been led to infer that the American press is left in the hands of ignorant adventurers, whereas the remarkable peculiarity is, that it absorbs nearly all the intellect of that country. There is scarcely a statesman of eminence, an author of fame, who does not contribute to the American periodical press."

It is known to all know nothings, and many outsiders besides, that a new know nothing ritual has been adopted, in which there is a change of signs, signals, grips and passwords, and that a new degree has been added. For one or two months past the country deputies have been busy introducing it into the various Councils. The "new work" costs each subordinate lodge about $12. This sum is charged to meet the heavy expenses of the "big bugs" of the order, and to defray other demands. The obligations of the first and second degrees do not differ very materially from those in the old works, yet there is some difference, and this difference we expect to notice shortly. Some of the know nothing papers are publishing extracts from the third degree, because there is a good deal of Buncombe-like prattling about "the Union"; but why don't they give us some extracts from the second degree? They would be vastly interesting to some folks.—Bards Gaz.

Peter Jennings and his two daughters, formerly of Pittsburgh, died of cholera at Dubuque, Iowa, a few days ago.

A CHANGE.—The sailing days of the California steamers have been changed, so that we will only have a mail from California twice a month, instead of weekly.

The amount of calico daily manufactured in Rhode Island, is sufficient to make each female in the State, a dress.

The Spiritual Telegraph tells of an instance of spirits providing a "circle" with cigars, in Warren, Mass. We always supposed that segars and spirits belonged together; they have kept company these many years! The rappers must try and furnish something new.

ONE CENT REWARD.

RANAWAY from the subscriber, living in Lebanon, on the morning of Tuesday the 9th of October, 1854, a young lad named HENRY DELUINE McATEE.

Said boy was an indentured apprentice to me, to learn the art of printing. He is 14 or 15 years of age, slender made, and has a long, gangling, peculiar stride when walking. He has a very sheepish, green looking countenance; and is no part of a printer. This is positively, to warn my fellow craftsmen and all others from harboring or employing said boy, as I shall most assuredly put the law in full force against such doers. I will give the above reward and no thanks to whoever will return him to me. Bardonia and Elizabethtown paper please copy once or twice. W. W. JACK, Nov. 1st. Ed. and Pro. of Post

THE VERY FINEST article of LETTER PAPER that the country can afford may be found, low for cash at the Printing Office.

Dr. A. J. Vanderslice.

Late Professor of the Ecole Clinique de Medicine et Pharmacie la Paris.

(A PRACTITIONER FOR TWENTY-NINE YEARS PAST.)

ANNOUNCES to his friends and the public that he continues to devote his time to the curing of the following diseases, viz: Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Fits, Dropsy, Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Piles, Fistula, Gout, Rheumatism, Scrofula, White Swelling, Nervous Affections, Fever and Ague, Bilious Complaints, &c.

Dr. Vanderslice has met with great success by his peculiar treatment of disease, where other very eminent physicians have failed to produce a cure. To attest his confidence in his own skill and merit, he will undertake the cure of all patients without charge, excepting the cost of the medicine, requiring no fee until after the restoration to health.

Diseases of a peculiar character he guarantees to remove radically in a few days without offensive or deleterious medicine. He warrants to all, no matter how severe or long standing the disease, an effectual cure, or he requires no pay. Females suffering with irregularities, nervousness, debility, &c., can be permanently relieved by Dr. V.

Invalids in any section of the country, by addressing a letter to him, post paid, and enclosing a fee, can have advice and medicines promptly sent them.

Scissoring.

Scene in Court.

Judge—Bring the prisoner into court.
Pete—Here I is, bound to blaze, as the spirits of turpentine said when it was all a fire.

Judge—We will take a little of the fire out of you. How do you live?

Pete—I ain't particular, as the oyster said when they axed him if he'd be fried or roasted.

Judge—We don't want to hear what the oyster said or the turpentine either. What do you follow?

Pete—Anything that comes in my way as the locomotive said when he run over the little nigger.

Judge—We don't care anything about the locomotive. What's your business?

Pete—That's various, as the cat said when she stole the chicken off the table.

Judge—That comes near the line, I suppose.

Pete—Altogether in my line, as the rope said when it was chocking the pirate.

Judge—I'll hear any more absurd comparisons I will give you twelve months.

Pete—I am done, as the beefsteak said to the cook.

Judge—Now, sir, your punishment shall depend upon the shortness and correctness of your answers. I suppose you live by going round the docks.

Pete—No, sir, I can't go round the docks without a boat, and I hain't got none.

Judge—Answer me, how do you get your bread?

Pete—Sometimes at the baker's, and sometimes I eat later.

Judge—No more of that stupid insinuation—How do you support yourself?

Pete—Sometimes on my legs and sometimes on a cheer.

Judge—I order you now to answer this question correctly: How do you do?

Pete—Pretty well, I thank you, Judge. How do you do?

Here the Judge was so completely "sold" that Pete was allowed to retire without any further interrogations as to his occupation or mode of living.

The Dying Wife.

The following most touching fragment of a letter, from a dying wife to her husband, between the leaves of a religious volume which she was fond of reading. The letter, which was literally dim with tear marks, was written long before the husband was aware that the grasp of a fatal disease had fastened upon the lovely form of his wife; who died at the early age of nineteen:

"When this shall reach your eye, dear —, some day when you are turning over the leaves of the past, I shall have passed away, forever; and the cold white stone shall be keeping its lonely watch over the lips you have so often pressed, and the sod will be growing green that shall hide forever from your sight the dust of one who has so often nestled close to your warm heart. For many long and sleepless nights, when all besides my thoughts were at rest, I have wrestled with the consciousness of approaching death, until at last it has forced itself upon my mind; and although to you and others it might now seem but the mere imagination of a girl, yet, dear, it is so. Many weary hours have I passed in the endeavor to reconcile myself to leaving you whom I love so well, and this bright world of sunshine and beauty; and hard indeed is it to struggle on silently and alone with the sure conviction that I am about to leave all forever, and go down alone in the dark valley. Knowing in whom I have trusted, and leaning upon his arm, 'I fear no evil.' Don't blame me for keeping even all this from you. How could I subject you, of all others, to such sorrow as I feel at parting, when time will soon make it apparent to you? I could have wished to live, if only to be at your side when your time shall come, and, pillowing your head upon my breast, wipe the death damps from your brow, and usher your departing spirit into its presence, embalmed in woman's holiest prayers. But it is not to be so, and I submit. Yours is the privilege of watching, through long and dreary nights, for the spirit's final flight, and transferring my sinking heart from year to year to your Saviour's bosom! And you shall share my last thoughts, and the last faint pressure of the hand, and the last feeble kiss; and even when flesh and heart shall have failed me, my eyes shall rest on yours, until glazed by death, and our spirits shall hold one last, fond communion, until gently fading from view, the last of earth, you shall mingle with the first bright glimmers of the unfading glories of the better world where partings are unknown. Well do I know the spot, dear, where you will lay me; often have stood by the place and as we watched the mellow sunset as it glanced in quivering lashes through the leaves and burnished the grassy mounds around us with strips of burnished gold, each perhaps has thought that some day one of us would come alone, and which ever it might be, your name would be on the stone. But we loved the spot, and I knew you'd love it none the less when you see the same quiet sunlight linger and play among the grass that grows over your Laura's grave. I knew you will go on alone there, when I am laid there, and my spirit will be with you then, and whisper among the waving branches I am not lost but gone before."

—The Milwaukee Democrat says:—
"When a Wisconsin girl is kissed, she looks surprised, and says, 'How could you do it?' To which the swain replies, 'It will give me much pleasure to show you, and precedes immediately, to give her a duplicate.'"

PROSPECTUS

OF ST. MARY'S COLLEGE.

NEAR LEBANON, MARION CO., KY.

This Literary Institution, founded in 1851, by the late REV. WILLIAM BYRNE, and subsequently conducted for many years by the Jesuits, is now under the superintendence of the Right Rev. Bishop of Louisville, who will always take means to provide a suitable Faculty for carrying it on with a view to promote the greatest public good. Under the auspices of its previous conductors, the Institution has been instrumental in widely diffusing the blessings of a religious education throughout Kentucky and the adjoining States.—The steadiness of its patronage has been a constant evidence of the public approval. The beauty and salubrity of the situation, as well as the spaciousness and commodiousness of the College Buildings, are generally known. It will be the constant aim of the Faculty to adopt, so far as practicable, the plan which it was so well and so usefully conducted by its enlightened and benevolent Founder.

Scott's Weekly Paper.

The Publishers of this large and popular Family Journal offers for the coming year, (1854) a combination of Literary attractions heretofore unattempted by any of the Philadelphia Weeklies. Among the new features will be a new and brilliant series of Original Romances by George Lippard, entitled "Legends of the Last Century." All who have read Mr. Lippard's celebrated Legends of the American Revolution published for fifty-six consecutive weeks in the Saturday Courier, will find these pictures of French and American History endowed with all the power and brilliancy of his previous productions. The first of a series of Original Novellettes, called "Morris Hartley, or the Knights of the Mystic Valley," by Harrison W. Ainsworth, is about to be commenced. It will be handsomely illustrated with 12 fine engravings, and its startling incidents cannot fail to elicit undivided praise. Emerson Bennett, the distinguished Novelist, the favorite of the West, and the author of some of the finest productions ever read, is also engaged to furnish a brilliant Novellette to follow the above. Mary Andrews Denison, author of Home Pictures, Patience Worthington and her Grandmother, &c., will contribute a splendid Domestic Novellette, entitled the "Old Ivy Grove," and H. C. Watson an illustrated Story called the "Two Edged Knife"—a graphic picture of Early Life in Old Kentucky. To these will be added Original Contributions and selections from Mrs. Caroline Lee Hentz, Clara Clairville, Lillie Liborne, Grace Greenwood, and other distinguished writers; the news of the day, graphic editorials, full reports of the provision, money, and stock markets, letters from travelers at home and abroad, &c., &c.

"FARMER'S GUIDE TO SCIENTIFIC AND PRACTICAL AGRICULTURE."

By HENRY STEPHENS, F. R. S., of Edinburgh, author of the "Book of the Farm," &c., &c.; assisted by JOHN P. NORTON, M. A., New Haven, Professor of Scientific Agriculture in Yale College, &c., &c.

This highly valuable work will comprise two large royal octavo volumes, containing over 1400 pages, with 18 or 20 splendid steel engravings, and more than 600 engravings on wood, in the highest style of the art, illustrating almost every implement of husbandry now in use by the best farmers, the best methods of plowing, planting, haying, harvesting, &c., &c., the various domestic animals in their highest perfection; in short the pictorial feature of the book is unique, and will render it of incalculable value to the student of Agriculture.

This work is being published in Semi-monthly Numbers, of 64 pages each, exclusive of the Steel engravings, and is sold at 25 cents each, or $5 for the entire work in numbers, of which there will be at least twenty-two.

The British Periodicals Re-published are as follows, viz:

The London Quarterly Review (Conservative),

The Edinburgh Review (Whig),

The North British Review (Free-Church),

The Westminster Review (Liberal), and Blackwood's Edinburgh Magazine (Tory).

Although these works are distinguished by the political shades above indicated, yet but a small portion of their contents is devoted to political subjects. It is their literary character which gives them their chief value, and in that they stand confessedly far above all other journals of their class. Blackwood, still under the masterly guidance of Christopher North, maintains its ancient celebrity, and is, at this time, unusually attractive, from the serial works of Bulwer and other literary notables, written for that magazine, and first appearing in its columns both in Great Britain and in the United States. Such works as "The Caxtons" and "My New Novel," (both by Bulwer), "My Peninsular Medal," "The Green Hand," and other serials, of which numerous rival editions are issued by the leading publishers in this country, have to be reprinted by those publishers from the pages of Blackwood, AFTER IT HAS BEEN ISSUED BY MESSRS. SCOTT & CO., so that subscribers to the reprint of that Magazine may always rely on having the EARLIEST reading of these fascinating tales.

Another Scientific Wonder.

GREAT CURE FOR DYSPEPSIA!

DR. J. S. HOUGHTON'S PEPSIN,

7 E TRUE DIGESTIVE FLUID,

GASTRIC JUICE!

Prepared from Rennet, or the Fourth Stomach of the Ox, after directions of Baron Liebig, the great Physiological Chemist, by J. S. HOUGHTON, M.D., Philadelphia, Pa.

"I DIGEST." Such is the true meaning of the word PEPSIN. It is the chief element, or great Digesting Principle of the Gastric Juice—the Solvent of the Food, the Purifying, Preserving and Stimulating Agent of the Stomach and Intestines. It is extracted from the Digestive Stomach of the Ox, thus forming a true Digestive Fluid, precise like the natural Gastric Juice in its Chemical powers, and furnishing a complete and perfect substitute for it.

This is Nature's own Remedy for an unhealthy Stomach. No art of man can equal its curative powers. It contains no Alcohol, Bitters, Acids, or Nauseous Drugs. It is extremely agreeable to the taste, and may be taken by the most feeble patients who cannot eat a water cracker without acute distress. Beware of Drugged Imitations. Pepsin is not a Drug.

Half a teaspoonful of Pepsin infused in water, will digest or dissolve five pounds of Roast Beef in about two hours, out of the stomach.

Scientific Evidence.

The Scientific Evidence upon which this Remedy is based is in the highest degree curious and remarkable.

Call on the Agent and get a Descriptive Circular, gratis, giving a large amount of scientific evidence, from Liebig's Animal Chemistry; Dr. Combe's Physiology of Digestion; Dr. Pereira on Food and Diet; Dr. John W. Draper of New York University; Prof. Douglas's Physiology; Prof. Silliman, of Yale College; Dr. Carpenter's Physioogy; &c., together with reports of cures from all parts of the United States.

Pepsin in Fluid and Powder.

DR. HOUGHTON'S PEPSIN is prepared in powder and in Fluid Form—and in prescription for the use of Physicians. The powder will be sent by mail free of Postage, for one dollar sent to Dr. Houghton, Philadelphia.

OBSERVE THIS!—Every bottle of the genuine Pepsin bears the written signature of J. S. HOUGHTON, M.D., sole proprietor, Philadelphia Pa. Copy-right and Trade mark secured.
